RoHS Compliance

RoHS (Restriction of Hazardous Substances, Directive 2002/95/EC) restricts hazardous materials content in products that will be sold into Europe. Other countries are adopting these restrictions or are proposing legislation similar to this.

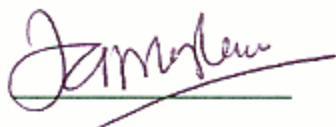

CWS Coil Winding Specialist products are fully in compliance with the RoHS Directive since Jun 1, 2004. All products manufactured from our factory in Asia after the June 1st. 2004 are in full compliance of this directive.

Samples and prototypes made at our U.S. prototype facility are not in compliance yet. Please contact CWS sales department for more details.

CERTIFICATION

CWS Coil Winding Specialist hereby warrants and agrees as follows:

- 1) Materials sold and/or delivered by CWS Coil Winding Specialist from our facility in China do not contain and will not contain the hazardous materials identified in Table 1, unless specifically noted in the data provided by CWS Coil Winding Specialist.
- 2) All the information provided in our documentations is accurate and correct.
- 3) CWS will not change product formulation or materials to deviate from the RoHS Directive unless a standard written change notification is processed and customers notified.
